

2 Game

Twenty

- deck of playing cards with picture cards removed (Ace = 1)
- calculator
- paper and pencil for recording

- 1 Each player takes one card without looking. The person with the highest card is the dealer.
- 2 The dealer gives each player 4 cards and puts the rest of the cards face down on the table.

- 3 Each player looks at their cards and uses adding, subtracting, multiplying or dividing to get a total as close as possible to 20 and writes this equation down. All the cards don't have to be used.

I could use $8 \times 2 = 16$
and $16 + 4 = 20$.

- 4 The person on your left checks your answer with a calculator.

- 5 The player or players whose answer is correct and gets closest to 20 gets the following number of points.

SCORING

2 points for using 2 cards
5 points for using 3 cards
10 points for using all 4 cards

I used 3 cards,
so I get 5 points.

I used 10×2 and got 20 too, but
I only used 2 cards, so I get 2 points.

- 6 The first player to reach 25 points or more wins the game. The winner is the dealer for the next round.

2 Game

Twenty

- deck of playing cards with picture cards removed (Ace = 1)
- calculator
- paper and pencil for recording

- 1 Each player takes one card without looking. The person with the highest card is the dealer.
- 2 The dealer gives each player 4 cards and puts the rest of the cards face down on the table.

- 3 Each player looks at their cards and uses adding, subtracting, multiplying or dividing to get a total as close as possible to 20 and writes this equation down. All the cards don't have to be used.

I could use $8 \times 2 = 16$
and $16 + 4 = 20$.

- 4 The person on your left checks your answer with a calculator.

- 5 The player or players whose answer is correct and gets closest to 20 gets the following number of points.

SCORING

2 points for using 2 cards
5 points for using 3 cards
10 points for using all 4 cards

I used 3 cards,
so I get 5 points.

I used 10×2 and got 20 too, but
I only used 2 cards, so I get 2 points.

- 6 The first player to reach 25 points or more wins the game. The winner is the dealer for the next round.