

Chapter 15 – Rich task 1 - Maori art

Page 241

1

Maori art

- Kowhaiwhai patterns are made by translating, rotating and reflecting some basic designs to make up a more complex pattern.

Two of the basic designs used are:

the koru

the rauru

- 1 Draw a pattern using these two designs on squared paper.
- 2 Colour your design red, white and black.
- 3 Translate, rotate and/or reflect the designs to make your pattern.
- 4 Make a few different patterns. You could add in some different basic designs like the kape.
- 5 Find a way to display your patterns with a description of the transformations you used to make each one.

You could use the computer to help you create interesting patterns.

Find some more examples of Maori art before you start.

Chapter 15 – Rich task 1 - Maori art

Page 241

1

Maori art

- Kowhaiwhai patterns are made by translating, rotating and reflecting some basic designs to make up a more complex pattern.

Two of the basic designs used are:

the koru

the rauru

- 1 Draw a pattern using these two designs on squared paper.
- 2 Colour your design red, white and black.
- 3 Translate, rotate and/or reflect the designs to make your pattern.
- 4 Make a few different patterns. You could add in some different basic designs like the kape.
- 5 Find a way to display your patterns with a description of the transformations you used to make each one.

You could use the computer to help you create interesting patterns.

Find some more examples of Maori art before you start.

